Hyderabad - Evolution of Development

First, it was the twin cities of Hyderabad and Secunderabad. As the advancement of technology and growing needs of the new generation, the city expanded to Cyberabad, which has grown into an information technology hub. Now, it is time to expand the horizons further - a Future City, which will be India's answer to the future. It will be India's first Net Zero Carbon city. Future City will become a hub for Artificial Intelligence, medical tourism, sports, software and pharma and much more.
